ENGLISH WOMEN AND GOLF. 60,000 of Them Spend a Pretty Penny on the Game.

the of course, impossible to say how many lady golfers there are United Kingdom," says the Lady's "but one can estimate very to the real number. The Ladies Union has now 335 clubs under its and in this way is directly accountde for 10,000 lady players. But there is very large number who are not yet mbers of the L. G. U.

or instance, there is the Mid-Surrey with its 500 lady members, and the nce's at Mitcham, which has now about members. Nearly a thousand are acinted for in these two clubs only, and re are more than the thousand if the dies on the waiting lists are counted in. things considered, it is safe to say that here are co,000 lady golfers in the United Kingdom.

this worth mentioning that the game is going ahead at a great rate (among the native ladies of other countries, and that french and German ladies are beginning in quite a thorough and expensive way. In a state Société de Golf de Paris, the chief club of Paris, whose course is out at ta Boulie. Versailles, the entrance fee is not fr. and the ladies have to pay a subscription of 175 fr., or the equivalent of 175 fr., or the equivalent of 175 arear—much more than is paid at any right lady members of the Hamburger Golf club, whose course consists of only nine holes have to pay 40 marks, or £2, a year. A native lady won the German champions and there last year, and another was ahead at a great rate (among the here last year, and another was chip there last year, and another was runner-up.

Now what do these 60,000 lady golfers of our own spend in the course of a year? It is difficult to calculate, of course; but I gained some very interesting results from a confidential inquiry that I made of six lady players of widely different classes, who among them seemed to represent all the varieties of ladies' golf. I suggested to them that in their reckonings they should include all materials for the game, all clothes, hats, boots, and shoes bough specially for it, club subscriptions, meals at clubs, caddies, travelling and all other expenses which were incurred directly for the game, and which would not have been incurred if they had not been golfers.

Tonsidering all the facts, one is sorely tempted to say that the average expenditure per lady in golf for a year cannot possibly be less than £10; but if it is put at half that amount we have about £300,000 spent on the game in the course of the year by the sex."

orrespondence San Francisco Call. The snow is all the way from fifty to venty-five feet deep on the ridge between forman's and Hopkins Creek, in Onion Valley, and on the north side of Pilot Creek, and great apprehension is felt for the mountain houses and two hotels because of the imminent danger of snowslides that threaten.

The residents of the place say that it is practically certain from the way the drifts are formed that there will be some big and revastating slides at and around the Mullen Hotel in Onion Valley. The hotel is buried in snow as it is, only the tips of the smoke-tacks being visible. Residents along the mountainsides have left their abodes and taken refuse in more secure places.
